

A medical infusion pump with multiple channels is shown in a clinical setting. The pump has a vertical column of screens displaying various infusion rates and times. To the right, a monitor displays vital signs and waveforms. The background is slightly blurred, showing a person in a white coat. A purple banner with white text is at the bottom.

Design your workspace.

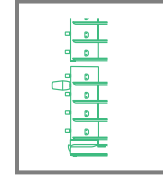

Stand-alone

Space^{plus} pumps can be easily stacked to each other for attachment to an IV pole or for transport.

Required Accessories;

- One Clamp
- A Power Cable for each pump

Docking station

Spaceplus pumps can be inserted and taken out of the Station w/o interruption of running therapy.

Required Accessories;

- One Power Cable

MRI

The Spaceplus MRI Station supports an infusion therapy for one patient at a time during MRI examinations w/o artifacts.

Required Accessories;

- One Power Cable